

1/12/13 - Day 7 – At Sea: Although we don't usually report on sea days, we will be making some exceptions when there are events which seem noteworthy. In this case there was a formal night in the dining room with a theme of black and silver. With all the effort that the ladies put in to planning and executing such a display it seemed worth putting in a few pictures. Below are some photos we got of friends taking part.
